SUMMARY

A highly motivated Junior Web Developer looking to break into the web development industry. An adaptable and skilled problem-solver who is constantly learning and striving for solutions and improvements, as well as a people-oriented and communicative team player that can still work independently.

PROJECTS

Film Log (In Progress)

Laravel, React, API

- A CMS-like web app that allows users to document their metadata on the go. This app should help those new and old in film photography and help document their film camera settings since one does not know the result until their film gets developed. Users can edit their settings, upload their photos, and then analyze their results at home.
